Minor things are the pets need a few things ordered for them. Pee pads, dog treats the sausages ones (I can send a picture of the packages), wet dog food, mini milk bones. I check tomorrow for what else. The cat will need some food.

I called about the locks and got a price. They can come pretty much anytime. The only thing is when they finish they need to be paid right then by debit card. No checks allowed.

I have both sets of keys to her jeep and both garage door openers. However with that being said. I think someone else has another garage door opener and possible key to house. Why do I think this because I thought I locked the back door one day only to come back the next day and the door was unlocked. I am pretty sure it was locked. That day when I left I put a chair under the door handle. When I came back the door handle was on the floor and the chair was moved out. The deadbolt was still locked. Today I let the dogs out to roam in the back yard. I got busy so my husband went to let them back in for me. When he opened the garage door the black dog was in the garage!!! When I left it was in the backyard!!! He came home and together we both went back out because I forgot to put the trash at the road and get the mail and 2 I wanted to check the house. All is locked and I talked to the neighbors and they are going to keep an eye when I'm not there as much as they can.

It's a lot sorry. But today has been a day.
