Branch E-Sign Disclosure and Agreement

1. You consent to receive documents electronically. There are state and federal laws that say that electronic documents are legal and are considered to be "in writing."
2. Copies of most documents will be provided electronically and can be accessed from Chase Online (www.chase.com). Some documents will be provided in paper form.
3. To access, view and retain these and other documents from Chase Online, you must have:
  - Enrolled in Chase Online
    - If you are not already enrolled, you can enroll by setting up a user ID and password in the branch or from another computer
    - To enroll, you must also agree to the terms and conditions that apply to Chase Online. If you'd like a copy, please ask the banker.
    - To enroll, and maintain Chase Online access, you must provide a valid email account. Please inform Chase if your email address changes. You can do this on chase.com, in a branch, or by calling the customer service number on your statement.
  - Access to a computer or other device that provides internet access. Acceptable internet browsers can be found at chase.com by searching "System Requirements."
  - Software to view files in Portable Document Format ("PDF")
  - A printer or the capability to save copies electronically
4. You can withdraw today's consent to receive these documents electronically by telling a banker who can print them for you. If you would like paper copies at a later date, you can print them from Chase Online or return to the branch. Chase does not charge a fee for these documents.
5. We reserve the right to change terms and conditions. We will inform you of changes as required by law.
6. Please log in to chase.com within the next thirty business days to demonstrate that you can access your documents. If you do not log in within this period, we will mail you paper copies of the documents provided electronically to you.

- Consent to the 'Branch E-Sign Disclosure and Agreement'
- Certify that you meet the hardware, software and access requirements stated above
- Certify you have a valid, active e-mail address and that you either already have a Chase Online profile or will establish one promptly.
